The Final Terms are issued to give details of an issue under the Structured Note Programme of UBS AG (the "Programme") and are to be read in conjunction with the Base Prospectus dated 15 November 2011, as supplemented from time to time. The terms and conditions applicable to the Certificates (the "Conditions") and the English or German language translation thereof, as the case may be, if any, are attached to these Final Terms. DESCRIPTION OF THE INDEX

Description of the EURO STOXX 50® Index (Bloomberg: SX5E)

The following Information is in essence an extract of the description of the Index as available on the internet page www.stoxx.com.

More information about the Index, nature, history, composition and prices of the Index is available under www.stoxx.com.

I. Introduction

The objectives of the STOXX® Indices are:

- Indices that accurately cover the breadth and depth of the European market
- Indices that are stable, predictable, consistent and economical
- Provide a tradable liquid base for indexation products.

A crucial requirement for achieving these objectives is transparency. To enable the accurate replication of the Index, STOXX Limited regularly updates and widely disseminates all the necessary data and information on all aspects of the Index composition and methodology. The Index and component data are disseminated immediately via the major data vendors and STOXX Limited's data distribution service, press releases and website (www.stoxx.com).

II. Index Universe

The EURO STOXX 50® blue chip index consists of 50 stocks covering the market sector leaders in the EURO STOXX® Index.

III. Index Description

As a member of the STOXX® family, the EURO STOXX 50® Index represents the performance of 50 companies representing the market sector leaders in the Eurozone. The following countries are included: Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Portugal and Spain. Price and total return values are calculated for the Index which is denominated in both Euros and US Dollars. Like all STOXX® Indices, it is a free float market capitalisation weighted index which captures around 60 % of the underlying market capitalisation of the EURO STOXX® Total Market Index. Component weightings are based on the number of free float shares; i.e. those shares that are available for trading.

IV. Index Methodology

The investable stock universe consists of the tradable stocks in the regional universe:

- Stock class: only common stocks and others with similar characteristics;
- Trading frequency: only stocks with less than 10 non-trading days in any three months.

The EURO STOXX 50® Index is derived from the EURO STOXX® Index, itself the Eurozone subset of the STOXX 600® Index.

1. Periodic Review (Selection List)

Annual review procedure:

(1) Selection List

- Within each of the 19 EURO STOXX Supersector indices, the component stocks are ranked by free float market capitalisation. The largest stocks are added to the selection list until the coverage is close to, but still less than, 60 % of the free float market capitalisation of the corresponding EURO STOXX® TMI Supersector index. If the next-ranked stock brings the coverage closer to 60 % in absolute terms, then it is also added to the selection list.
- Any remaining stocks that are current EURO STOXX 50® Index components are added to the selection list.

- The stocks on the selection list are ranked by free float market capitalisation. In exceptional cases, the STOXX Limited Supervisory Board could make additions or deletions to the selection list.

The free float factors are reviewed on a quarterly basis; they are published and implemented on the quarterly underlying data announcement dates. In exceptional cases they can be implemented immediately.

(2) 40 - 60 Rule

The "40 - 60" rule is then applied to select the blue chip stocks from the selection list:

- The largest 40 stocks on the list are selected.
- The remaining 10 stocks are selected from the largest remaining current stocks ranked between 41 and 60.
- If the number of stocks selected is still below 50, the largest remaining stocks are selected to bring the total to 50.

In addition, a selection list is also published on the first trading day of every month to indicate possible changes to the blue chip index composition at the next annual review or in case of extraordinary corporate actions.

2. Ongoing Review

The EURO STOXX 50® Index is reviewed annually. If the number of shares changes by more than 10 % (due to extraordinary corporate actions, e.g. initial public offerings, mergers and takeovers, spin-offs, delistings or bankruptcy), the number of shares are adjusted immediately. Changes of less than 10 % will be implemented at the next quarterly review.

Index divisors are adjusted to maintain the continuity of the index across changes due to corporate actions.

3. Index Constituents and Weightings

The actual composition of the EURO STOXX 50® Index is published on Internet page www.stoxx.com.

If, at a quarterly review, the free float of a blue chip component is more than 10 % of the total free float market capitalisation of the EURO STOXX 50® Index, then it is reduced to 10 % by a weighting cap factor that is fixed until the next quarterly review.

4. Index Calculation and Dissemination

The Index is calculated with the Laspeyres formula which measures price changes against a fixed base quantity weight. The EURO STOXX 50® Index has a base value of 1,000 on the base date December 31, 1991. Historical data is available back to December 31, 1986.

The closing value of the EURO STOXX 50® Index is calculated at approximately 18:00 CET (Central European Time) based on the closing/adjusted price of the shares in the EURO STOXX 50® Index. If a stock did not trade all day then the previous day's closing/adjusted price is used. The same applies in case of a suspended quotation or stock exchange holiday.

§4c (Successor Index. Calculation Agent Adjustment. Correction of the Index. Disrupted Days)

- (1) Successor Index. If the Index is not calculated and announced by the Index

- (2) Anpassungen durch die Berechnungsstelle. Stellt die Berechnungsstelle vor einem Index-Bewertungstag fest, dass der Index-Sponsor (oder, falls anwendbar, der Index-Sponsor-Nachfolger) eine erhebliche Veränderung in der zur Berechnung eines Index verwandten Formel oder Berechnungsmethode vornimmt oder auf andere Weise den Index erheblich verändert (außer, dass es sich dabei um eine in einer solchen Formel oder Berechnungsmethode vorgesehene Anpassung handelt, die den Index im Fall von Veränderungen der enthaltenen Wertpapiere, der Kapitalisierung und anderen routinemäßigen Ereignissen erhalten sollen) (eine "Veränderung des Index"), oder die Berechnung des Index dauerhaft einstellt, ohne dass ein Nachfolge-Index existiert (eine "Einstellung des Index"), oder dass der Index-Sponsor an einem Index-Bewertungstag den Index-Stand nicht berechnet und veröffentlicht hat (eine "Unterbrechung des Index"), so wird die Berechnungsstelle zur Berechnung des Indexbezogenen Rückzahlungsbetrags an Stelle des veröffentlichten Stands des Index den Index-Stand zum Index-Bewertungstag gemäß der unmittelbar vor der Veränderung oder der Einstellung gültigen Berechnungsformel und Berechnungsmethode ermitteln, wird dazu aber nur diejenigen Einzelwerte heranziehen, aus denen sich der Index unmittelbar vor der Index-Anpassung zusammengesetzt hat. Die Berechnungsstelle wird die Hauptzahlstelle und die Gläubiger gemäß §12 hiervom unterrichten.
- (3) Korrektur des Index. Sollte ein an der Börse oder durch den Index-Sponsor veröffentlichter Kurs oder Stand, der für Sponsor but is calculated and announced by a successor to the Index Sponsor (the "Successor Index Sponsor") acceptable to the Calculation Agent or replaced by a successor index using, in the determination of the Calculation Agent, the same or a substantially similar formula for, and method of, calculation as used in the calculation, of the Index (the "Successor Index"), then such index shall be deemed to be the Index so calculated and announced by the Successor Index Sponsor or that Successor Index, as the case may be.
- (2) Calculation Agent Adjustment. If, in the determination of the Calculation Agent on or before any Index Valuation Date the Index Sponsor (or, if applicable, the Successor Index Sponsor) makes a material change in the formula for, or the method of calculating, the Index or in any other way materially modifies an Index (other than a modification prescribed in that formula or method to maintain that Index in the event of changes in constituent securities and capitalisation and other routine events) (an "Index Modification"); or permanently cancels the Index and no Successor Index exists (an "Index Cancellation") or on any Index Valuation Date the Index Sponsor fails to calculate and publish the Index Level (an "Index Disruption"), then the Calculation Agent shall calculate the Index Linked Redemption Amount using, in lieu of a published level for the Index, the Index Level as at the relevant Index Valuation Date as determined by the Calculation Agent in accordance with the formula for and method of calculating such Index last in effect before that change or failure, but using only those Components that comprised the Index immediately prior to that Index Adjustment Event. The Calculation Agent shall notify the Fiscal Agent and the Certificateholders thereof in accordance with §12.
- (3) Correction of the Index. In the event that any price or level published on the Exchange or Related Exchange or by irgendeine Berechnung oder Feststellung in bezug auf die Zertifikate verwandt worden ist, nachträglich korrigiert werden und wird diese Korrektur durch die Börse oder den Index-Sponsor vor dem Fälligkeitstag veröffentlicht, so wird die Berechnungsstelle den aufgrund dieser Korrektur zahlbaren oder lieferbaren Betrag bestimmen und, falls erforderlich, die Bedingungen der Transaktion zur Berücksichtigung dieser Korrektur anpassen und die Gläubiger gemäß §12 entsprechend unterrichten.

the Index Sponsor and which is utilised for any calculation or determination made in relation to the Certificates is subsequently corrected and the correction is published by the Exchange or the Index Sponsor before the Maturity Date, the Calculation Agent will determine the amount that is payable or deliverable as a result of that correction, and, to the extent necessary, will adjust the terms of such transaction to account for such correction and will notify the Certificateholders accordingly pursuant to §12.

- (4) Störungstage. Wenn die Berechnungsstelle nach nach Treu und Glauben und in vernünftiger Weise feststellt, dass ein Index-Bewertungstag ein Störungstag ist, dann ist der Index-Bewertungstag der nächstfolgende Index-Geschäftstag, an dem die Berechnungsstelle feststellt, dass kein Störungstag vorliegt, es sei denn, die Berechnungsstelle stellt fest, dass an jedem der fünf Index-Geschäftstage, die unmittelbar auf den ursprünglichen Tag folgen, ein Störungstag vorliegt. Im letzteren Falle:
- (a) gilt der entsprechende fünfte Index-Geschäftstag als Index-Bewertungstag, ungeachtet der Tatsache, dass dieser Tag ein Störungstag ist; und
 - (b) bestimmt die Berechnungsstelle den Index-Stand zum maßgeblichen Index-Bewertungstag an diesem fünften Index-Geschäftstag in Übereinstimmung mit der vor Beginn der Marktstörung gültigen Berechnungsformel und Berechnungsmethode, indem sie den Börsenkurs der maßgeblichen Börse (oder, falls der Handel im betreffenden Einzelwert erheblich unterbrochen oder erheblich eingeschränkt worden ist, eine nach Treu und Glauben erfolgte Schätzung des Börsenkurses, der nach Ansicht der Berechnungsstelle ohne eine solche Unterbrechung oder Einschränkung zustande gekommen wäre) jedes im Index enthaltenen Einzelwerts an diesem fünften Index-Geschäftstag verwendet.

Disrupted Days. If the Calculation Agent acting in good faith and in a reasonable manner determines that any Index Valuation Date is a Disrupted Day, then the Index Valuation Date shall be the first succeeding Index Business Day that the Calculation Agent determines is not a Disrupted Day, unless the Calculation Agent determines that each of the five Index Business Days immediately following the original date is a Disrupted Day. In that case:

- (a) that fifth Index Business Day shall be deemed to be the Index Valuation Date, notwithstanding the fact that such day is a Disrupted Day; and
- (b) the Calculation Agent shall determine the Index Level as of the relevant Index Valuation Date on that fifth Index Business Day in accordance with the formula, for and method of, calculating such Index last in effect prior to the commencement of the Market Disruption Event using the exchange-traded price on the relevant Exchange (or, if trading in the relevant Component has been materially suspended or materially limited, its good faith estimate of the exchange-traded price that would have prevailed but for the suspension or limitation as of the relevant Index Valuation Date) on that fifth Index Business Day of each Component comprising the Index.

Die Unterzeichnung der Ersetzungs-Dokumente und die Mitteilung gemäß Absatz (4) dieser Bestimmung befreien, im Fall der Einsetzung einer anderen Gesellschaft als Hauptschuldnerin, die Emittentin von allen Verbindlichkeiten, die sie als Hauptschuldnerin unter den Zertifikaten hatte.

- (3) The Substitution Documents shall be deposited with and held by the Fiscal Agent for so long as any Certificates remain outstanding and for so long as any claim made against the Substitute Debtor or the Issuer by any Certificateholder in relation to the Certificates or the Substitution Documents shall not have been finally adjudicated, settled or discharged. - (2) Notification to Clearing System. The Issuer may, instead of a publication pursuant to subparagraph (1) above, deliver the relevant notice to the Clearing System, for communication by the Clearing System to the Certificateholders, provided that, so long as any Certificates are listed on any stock exchange, the rules of such stock exchange permit such form of notice. APPENDIX C TO THE FINAL TERMS

RISK FACTORS

The purchase of Certificates may involve substantial risks and is suitable only for investors with the knowledge and experience in financial and business matters necessary to evaluate the risks and the merits of an investment in the Certificates. Before making an investment decision, potential investors should consider carefully, in the light of their own financial circumstances and investment objectives, all the information set forth in the Base Prospectus. Words and expressions defined in parts of the Base Prospectus shall have the same meaning in this Appendix C to the Final Terms.

Potential investors in the Certificates should recognize that the Certificates may decline in value and should be prepared to sustain a total loss of their investment in the Certificates.

I. Risk Factors relating to the Certificates

1. General Risk Factors relating to the Certificates

General

An investment in the Certificates entails certain risks, which vary depending on the specification and type or structure of the Certificates.

Each potential investor should determine whether an investment in the Certificates is appropriate in its particular circumstances. An investment in the Certificates requires a thorough understanding of the nature of the relevant transaction. Potential investors should be experienced with respect to an investment, in particular those relating to structured Certificates and be aware of the related risks.

An investment in the Certificates is only suitable for potential investors who:

- have the requisite knowledge and experience in financial and business matters to evaluate the merits and risks of an investment in the Certificates and the information contained or incorporated by reference into the Base Prospectuses or any applicable supplement thereto;
- have access to, and knowledge of, appropriate analytical tools to evaluate such merits and risks in the context of the investor's particular financial situation and to evaluate the impact the Certificates will have on their overall investment portfolio;
- understand thoroughly the terms of the Certificates and are familiar with the behaviour of the relevant underlyings and financial markets;
- are capable of bearing the economic risk of an investment in the Certificates until the maturity of the Certificates; and
- recognise that it may not be possible to dispose of the Certificates for a substantial period of time, if at all before maturity.

The trading market for debt securities, such as the Certificates, may be volatile and may be adversely impacted by many events.

Credit Risk

Certificateholders are subject to the risk of a partial or total failure of the Issuer to make interest and/or redemption payments that the Issuer is obliged to make under the Certificates. The worse the creditworthiness of the Issuer, the higher the risk of loss (see also "Risk Factors relating to the Issuer" below).

A materialisation of the credit risk may result in partial or total failure of the Issuer to make interest and/or redemption payments.

Rating of the Certificates

A rating of Certificates, if any, may not adequately reflect all risks of the investment in such Certificates. Equally, ratings may be suspended, downgraded or withdrawn. Such suspension, downgrading or withdrawal may have an adverse effect on the market value and trading price of the Certificates. A credit rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be revised or withdrawn by the rating agency at any time.

Reinvestment Risk

Certificateholders may be exposed to risks connected to the reinvestment of cash resources freed from the Certificates. The return the Certificateholders will receive from the Certificates depends not only on the price and the nominal interest rate of the Certificates but also on whether or not the interest received during the term of the Certificates can be reinvested at the same or a higher interest rate than the rate provided for in the Certificates. The extent of the reinvestment risk depends on the individual features of the Certificates.

Cash Flow Risk

In general, the Certificates provide a certain cash flow. The Terms and Conditions of the Certificates and the Final Terms set forth under which conditions, on which dates and in which amounts interest and/or redemption amounts are/is paid. In the event that the agreed conditions do not occur, the actual cash flows may differ from those expected.

The materialisation of the cash flow risk may result in the Issuer's inability to make interest payments or in the inability to redeem the Certificates, in whole or in part.

Inflation Risk

The inflation risk is the risk of future money depreciation. The real yield from an investment is reduced by inflation. The higher the rate of inflation, the lower the real yield on the Certificates. If the inflation rate is equal to or higher than the nominal yield, the real yield is zero or even negative.

Purchase on Credit – Debt Financing

If a loan is used to finance the acquisition of the Certificates by a Certificateholder and the Certificates subsequently go into default, or if the trading price diminishes significantly, the Certificateholder may not only have to face a potential loss on its investment, but it will also have to repay the loan and pay interest thereon. A loan may significantly increase the risk of a loss. Potential investors should not assume that they will be able to repay the loan or pay interest thereon from the profits of a transaction. Instead, potential investors should assess their financial situation prior to an investment, as to whether they are able to pay interest on the loan, repay the loan on demand, and that they may suffer losses instead of realising gains.

Distribution Agent Remuneration

The Issuer may enter into distribution agreements with various financial institutions and other intermediaries as determined by the Issuer (each a "Distribution Agent"). Each Distribution Agent will agree, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, to subscribe for the Certificates at a price equivalent to or below the Issue Price. A periodic fee may also be payable to the Distribution Agents in respect of all outstanding Certificates up to and including the maturity date at a rate as determined by the Issuer. Such rate may vary from time to time.

Transaction Costs/Charges

When Certificates are purchased or sold, several types of incidental costs (including transaction fees and commissions) are incurred in addition to the purchase or sale price of the Certificates. These incidental costs may significantly reduce or eliminate any profit from holding the Certificates. Credit institutions as a rule charge commissions which are either fixed minimum commissions or pro-rata commissions, depending on the order value. To the extent that additional – domestic or foreign – parties are involved in the execution of an order, including but not limited to domestic dealers or brokers in foreign markets, Certificateholders may also be charged for the brokerage fees, commissions and other fees and expenses of such parties (third party costs).

In addition to such costs directly related to the purchase of securities (direct costs), potential investors must also take into account any follow-up costs (such as custody fees). Potential investors should inform themselves about any additional costs incurred in connection with the purchase, custody or sale of the Certificates before investing in the Certificates.

Change of Law

The Terms and Conditions of the Certificates will be governed by German law (as further described in the Terms and Conditions of the Certificates), as declared applicable in the Final Terms for each Tranche of Certificates, in effect as at the date of the Base Prospectus. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or change to German law (or law applicable in Germany) or administrative practice after the date of the Base Prospectus.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

Each of the Issuer, the Manager(s) or their respective affiliates may deal with and engage generally in any kind of commercial or investment banking or other business with any issuer of Underlying Securities or Reference Entities, their respective affiliates or any guarantor or any other person or entities having obligations relating to any issuer of Underlying Securities or Reference Entities or their respective affiliates or any guarantor in the same manner as if any Certificates did not exist, regardless of whether any such action might have an adverse effect on an issuer of the Underlying Securities or Reference Entities, any of their respective affiliates or any guarantor.

The Issuer may from time to time be engaged in transactions involving the Underlying Securities or Reference Entities, the Index, Index Components or related derivatives or Relevant Commodities which may affect the market price, liquidity or value of the Certificates and which could be deemed to be adverse to the interests of the Certificateholders.

Potential conflicts of interest may arise between the Calculation Agent and the Certificateholders, including with respect to certain discretionary determinations and judgements that the Calculation Agent may make pursuant to the Terms and Conditions of the Certificates that may influence the amount receivable upon redemption of the Certificates.

Provision of Information

None of the Issuer, the Manager(s) or any of their respective affiliates makes any representation as to any issuer of underlying securities or Reference Entities. Any of such persons may have acquired, or during the term of the Certificates may acquire, non-public information with respect to an issuer of the underlying securities or Reference Entities, their respective affiliates or any guarantors that is or may be material in the context of Credit Linked Certificates. The issue of Credit Linked Certificates will not create any obligation on the part of any such persons to disclose to the Certificateholders or any other party such information (whether or not confidential).

Taxation

Potential investors should be aware that they may be required to pay taxes or other documentary charges or duties in accordance with the laws and practices of the country where the Certificates are transferred or other jurisdictions. In some jurisdictions, no official statements of the tax authorities or court decisions may be available for innovative financial instruments such as the Certificates. Potential investors are advised not to rely upon the tax summary contained in the Base Prospectus and/or in the Final Terms but to ask for their own tax adviser's advice on their individual taxation with respect to the acquisition, sale and redemption of the Certificates. Only these advisors are in a position to duly consider the specific situation of the potential investor. This investment consideration has to be read in connection with the section "Taxation" of the Base Prospectus and the tax sections contained in these Final Terms.

No Deposit Protection

The Certificates issued under the Programme are neither protected or guaranteed by the Deposit Protection Fund of the Association of German Banks (Einlagensicherungsfonds des Bundesverbandes deutscher Banken e.V.) nor by the German Deposit Guarantee and Investor Compensation Act (Einlagensicherungs- und Anlegerentschädigungsgesetz). In case of an insovency of the Issuer, Certificateholders may therefore not rely on any protection established by such schemes.

Independent Review and Advice

Each potential investor must determine, based on its own independent review and such professional advice as it deems appropriate under the circumstances, that its acquisition of the Certificates is fully consistent with its (or if it is acquiring the Certificates in a fiduciary capacity, the beneficiary's) financial needs, objectives and condition, complies and is fully consistent with all investment policies, guidelines and restrictions applicable to it (whether acquiring the Certificates as principal or in a fiduciary capacity) and is a fit, proper and suitable investment for it (or if it is acquiring the Certificates in a fiduciary capacity, for the beneficiary), notwithstanding the clear and substantial risks inherent in investing in or holding the Certificates. Without independent review and advice, an investor may not adequately understand the risks inherent with an investment in the Certificates and may lose parts or all of his capital invested without taking such or other risks into consideration before investing in the Certificates.

A potential investor may not rely on the Issuer, the Manager(s) or any of their respective affiliates in connection with its determination as to the legality of its acquisition of the Certificates or as to the other matters referred to above.

Risks associated with an Early Redemption

Unless the Final Terms specify otherwise, in the event that the Issuer would be obliged to increase the amounts payable in respect of the Certificates due to any withholding or deduction for or on account of, any present or future taxes, duties, assessments or governmental charges of whatever nature imposed, levied, collected, withheld or assessed by or on behalf of Switzerland, Jersey and/or Germany, as the case may be, or any political subdivision thereof or any authority therein or thereof having power to tax, the Issuer may redeem all outstanding Certificates in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of the Certificates.

In addition, if the Final Terms specify that the Certificates are redeemable at the Issuer's option in certain other circumstances the Issuer may choose to redeem the Certificates at times when prevailing interest rates may be relatively low. In such circumstances Certificateholders may not be able to reinvest the redemption proceeds in a comparable security at an effective interest rate as high as that of the Certificates.

Possible decline in value of an underlying following an early redemption at the option of the Issuer in case of Certificates linked to an underlying

In case of a Tranche of Certificates which are linked to an underlying and if such Certificates are redeemed early by the Issuer, potential investors must be aware that any decline in the price of the underlying between the point of the early redemption announcement and determination of the price of the underlying used for calculation of the early redemption amount shall be borne by the Certificateholders.

No Certificateholder right to demand early redemption if not specified otherwise

If the Final Terms do not provide otherwise, Certificateholders have no right to demand early redemption of the Certificates during the term. In case the Issuer has the right to redeem the Certificates early but provided that the Issuer does not exercise such right and it does not redeem the Certificates early in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of the Certificates, the realisation of any economic value in the Certificates (or portion thereof) is only possible by way of their sale.

Sale of the Certificates is contingent on the availability of market participants willing to purchase the Certificates at a commensurate price. If no such willing purchasers are available, the value of the Certificates cannot be realised. The issue of the Certificates entails no obligation on the part of the Issuer vis-à-vis the Certificateholders to ensure market equilibrium or to repurchase the Certificates.

Because the Global Notes or the Intermediated Securities, as the case may be, may be held by or on behalf of, or may be registered with, Euroclear, Clearstream Frankfurt, Clearstream Luxembourg and/or SIS or any other relevant clearing system/FISA Depository, as the case may be, for a particular Tranche of Certificates, Certificatesholders will have to rely on their procedures and the applicable laws for transfer, payment and communication with the Issuer. The Issuer shall not be held liable under any circumstances for any acts and omissions of any Clearing Systems or any other relevant clearing system/FISA Depository as well as for any losses which might occur to a Certificateholder out of such acts and omissions.

Certificates issued under the Programme may be represented by one or more Global Note(s). If the Certificates are governed by Swiss law, they will be issued either as one or more Swiss Global Note(s) or as Uncertificated Securities, and will have the form of Intermediated Securities.

Global Notes may be deposited with a common depositary for Euroclear and Clearstream Luxembourg or with Clearstream Frankfurt or SIS or such other clearing system or such other respective common depositary as may be relevant for the particular Tranche of Certificates. Certificateholder will not be entitled to receive definitive Certificates. Euroclear, Clearstream Frankfurt, Clearstream Luxembourg or SIS, or any other relevant clearing system, as the case may be, will maintain records of the beneficial interests in the Global Notes. While the Certificates are represented by one or more Global Note(s) Certificateholders will be able to trade their beneficial interests only through Euroclear, Clearstream Frankfurt, Clearstream Luxembourg or SIS or any other relevant clearing system, as the case may be.

While the Certificates are represented by one or more Global Note(s) the Issuer will discharge its payment obligations under the Certificates by making payments to the common depositary for Euroclear and Clearstream Luxembourg or for Clearstream Frankfurt or for SIS or any other relevant clearing system, if any, for distribution to their account holders. A holder of a beneficial interest in a Global Note must rely on the procedures of Euroclear, Clearstream Frankfurt, Clearstream Luxembourg or SIS or of any other relevant clearing system, if any, to receive payments under the relevant Certificates. The Issuer has no responsibility or liability for the records relating to, or payments made in respect of, beneficial interests in the Global Notes.

Holders of beneficial interests in the Global Notes will not have a direct right to vote in respect of the relevant Notes. Instead, such holders will be permitted to act only to the extent that they are enabled by Euroclear, Clearstream Frankfurt, Clearstream Luxembourg or SIS or any other relevant clearing system, if any, to appoint appropriate proxies.

Further factors influencing the value of the Certificates in case of Certificates linked to an underlying

The value of the Certificates is determined not only by changes in market prices, changes in the price of an underlying, but also by several other factors. More than one risk factor can influence the value of the Certificates at any one time, so that the effect of an individual risk factor cannot be predicted. Moreover, more than one risk factor may have a compounding effect that is also unpredictable. No definitive statement can be made with respect to the effects of combined risk factors on the value of the Certificates.

These risk factors include the term of the Certificate and the frequency and intensity of price fluctuations (volatility) of the underlying as well as general interest and dividend levels. Consequently, the Certificate may lose value even if the price of an underlying remains constant.

Potential investors should thus be aware that an investment in the Certificates entails a valuation risk with respect to an underlying. Investors should have experience in transactions with Certificates having values based on their respective underlying. The value of an underlying is subject to fluctuations that are contingent on many factors, such as the business activities of UBS AG, macroeconomic factors and speculation. If an underlying comprises a basket of individual components, fluctuations in the value of a single component may be either offset or amplified by fluctuations in the value of the other components. Additionally, the historical performance of an underlying is not an indication of future performance. The historical price of an underlying does not indicate future performance of such underlying. Changes in the market price of an underlying affect the trading price of the Certificates, and it cannot be foreseen whether the market price of an underlying will rise or fall.

If the right represented by the Certificate is calculated using a currency, currency unit or unit of account other than the currency of the Certificate, or if the value of an underlying is determined in such a currency, currency unit or unit of account other than the currency of the Certificate, potential investors should be aware that an investment in the Certificates may entail risks based on exchange rate fluctuations, and that the risk of loss is not based solely on the performance of an underlying, but also on unfavourable developments in the value of the foreign currency, currency unit or unit of account. Such unfavourable developments can increase the Certificateholder's risk of loss in the following ways:

- the value of the Certificates purchased may decline correspondingly in value or
- the amount of the potential redemption amount may decline correspondingly.

Transactions to offset or limit risk

Potential investors should not rely on the ability to conclude transactions during the term of the Certificates to offset or limit the relevant risks; this depends on the market situation and, in case of a Certificate linked to an underlying, the specific underlying conditions. It is possible that such transactions can only be concluded at an unfavourable market price, resulting in a corresponding loss for the Certificateholder.

Expansion of the spread between bid and offer prices

In special market situations, where the Issuer is completely unable to conclude hedging transactions, or where such transactions are very difficult to conclude, the spread between the bid and offer prices may be temporarily expanded, in order to limit the economic risks to the Issuer. Thus, Certificateholders selling their Certificates on an exchange or on the over-the-counter market may be doing so at a price that is substantially lower than the actual value of the Certificates at the time of sale.

Effect on the Certificates of hedging transactions by the Issuer

The Issuer may use a portion of the total proceeds from the sale of the Certificates for transactions to hedge the risks of the Issuer relating to the Tranche of Certificates. In such case, the Issuer or a company affiliated with it may conclude transactions that correspond to the obligations of the Issuer under the Certificates. As a rule, such transactions are concluded prior to or on the Issue Date, but it is also possible to conclude such transactions after issue of the Certificates. On or before a valuation date, if any, the Issuer or a company affiliated with it may take the steps necessary for closing out any hedging transactions. It cannot, however, be ruled out that the price of an underlying, if any, will be influenced by such transactions in individual cases. Entering into or closing out these hedging transactions may influence the probability of occurrence or non-occurrence of determining events in the case of Certificates with a value based on the occurrence of a certain event in relation to an underlying.

2. General Risk Factors relating to changes in the Market Condition

Market Illiquidity

There can be no assurance as to how the Certificates will trade in the secondary market or whether such market will be liquid or illiquid or that there will be a market at all. If the Certificates are not traded on any securities exchange, pricing information for the Certificates may be more difficult to obtain and the liquidity and market prices of the Certificates may be adversely affected. The liquidity of the Certificates may also be affected by restrictions on offers and sales of the securities in some jurisdictions. The more limited the secondary market is, the more difficult it may be for the Certificateholders to realise value for the Certificates prior to the exercise, expiration or maturity date.

Market Value of the Certificates

The market value of the Certificates will be affected by the creditworthiness of the Issuer and a number of additional factors and the value of the Reference Assets or the Index, including, but not limited to, the volatility of the Reference Assets or the index, the dividend rate on underlying securities, or the dividend on the securities taken up in the Index, the issuer of the underlying securities financial results and prospects, market interest yield rates, market liquidity and the time remaining to the maturity date.

The value of the Certificates, the Reference Assets or the Index depends on a number of interrelated factors, including economic, financial and political events in a global economy or elsewhere, including factors affecting capital markets generally and the stock exchanges on which the Reference Assets, the securities taken up in the Index, or the Index, are traded. The price at which a Certificateholders will be able to sell the Certificates prior to maturity may be at a discount, which could be substantial, from the Issue Price or the purchase price paid by such purchaser. The historical market prices of the Reference Assets or the Index should not be taken as an indication of the Reference Assets' or the Index's future performance during the term of the Certificate.

Market price risk – Historic performance

The historic price of the Certificate should not be taken as an indicator of future performance of the Certificate.

It is not foreseeable whether the market price of the Certificate will rise or fall. If the price risk materialises, the Issuer may be unable to redeem the Certificates in whole or in part.

The Issuer gives no guarantee that the spread between purchase and selling prices is within a certain range or remains constant.

3. Risk Factors relating to the specific Product Category

Index Linked Certificates

Index Linked Certificates are debt securities which do not provide for predetermined redemption amounts and/or interest payments but amounts due in respect of principal and/or interest will be dependent upon the performance of the Index, which itself may contain substantial credit, interest rate or other risks. The redemption amount and/or interest, if any, payable by the Issuer might be substantially less than the Issue Price or, as the case may be, the purchase price invested by the Certificateholder and may even be zero in which case the Certificateholder may lose his entire investment.

Index Linked Certificates are not in any way sponsored, endorsed, sold or promoted by the Index Sponsor or the respective licensor of the Index and such Index Sponsor or licensor makes no warranty or representation whatsoever, express or implied, either as to the results to be obtained from the use of the Index and/or the figure at which the Index stands at any particular time. Each Index is determined, composed and calculated by its respective Index Sponsor or licensor, without regard to the Issuer or the Certificates. None of the Index Sponsors or licensors is responsible for or has participated in the determination of the timing of, prices at, or quantities of the Certificates to be issued or in determination or calculation of the equation by which the Certificates settle into cash.

None of the Index Sponsors or licensors has any obligation or liability in connection with the administration, marketing or trading of the Certificates. The Index Sponsor or licensor of the Index has no responsibility for any calculation agency adjustment made for the Index.

Effect of the express structure

Prospective investors should consider that the Certificates may according to the Terms and Conditions of the Certificates and under certain circumstances expire prior to the Expiration Date without any statement by the Issuer or the Certificateholder being required, so-called express structure. In case the Certificates expire prior to the Expiration Date, the Certificateholder is entitled to demand the payment of an amount in relation to the early expiration. However, the Certificateholder is not entitled to request any further payments on the Certificates after the Automatic Early Redemption Date.

The Certificateholder, therefore, bears the risk of not participating in the performance of the underlying to the expected extent and during the expected period and, therefore, receives less than its capital invested.

In case of an early expiration of the Certificates, the Certificateholder also bears the so-called risk of reinvestment. The Certificateholder may be able to re-invest any amount paid by the Issuer in case of an early expiration, if any, at market conditions, which are less favourable than those existing prevailing at the time of the acquisition of the Securities.

General Risks in respect of Structured Certificates

In general, an investment in Certificates by which payments of interest, if any and/or redemption is determined by reference to the performance of one or more index/indices, equity security/equity securities, bond/bonds, commodity/commodities, currency/currencies, credit events, reference interest rate/rates or other security/securities, may entail significant risks not associated with similar investments in a conventional debt security. Such risks include the risks that the Certificateholder may receive no interest at all, or that the resulting interest rate may be less than that payable on a conventional debt security at the same time and/or that the Certificateholder could lose all or a substantial portion of the principal of his Certificates. In addition, potential investors should be aware that the market price of such Certificates may be very volatile (depending on the volatility of the relevant underlying/underlyings).

Neither the current nor the historical value of the relevant underlying/underlyings should be taken as an indication of future performance of such underlying/underlyings during the term of any Certificate.

No Capital Protection

Since the Certificates are not capital protected, potential investors may lose the totality of their investment.

II. Risk Factors Relating To The Issuer

As a global financial services provider, the business activities of UBS are affected by the prevailing market situation. Different risk factors can impair the company's ability to implement business strategies and may have a direct, negative impact on earnings. Accordingly, UBS AG's revenues and earnings are and have been subject to fluctuations. The revenues and earnings figures from a specific period, thus, are not evidence of sustainable results. They can change from one year to the next and affect UBS AG's ability to achieve its strategic objectives.

General insolvency risk

Each investor bears the general risk that the financial situation of the Issuer could deteriorate. The Securities constitute immediate, unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, which, in particular in the case of insolvency of the Issuer, rank pari passu with each other and all other current and future unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, with the exception of those that have priority due to mandatory statutory provisions. The obligations of the Issuer created by the Securities are not secured by a system of deposit guarantees or a compensation scheme. In case of an insolvency of the Issuer, Securityholders may, consequently, suffer a total loss of their investment in the Securities.

Effect of downgrading of the Issuer's rating

The general assessment of the Issuer's creditworthiness may affect the value of the Notes. This assessment generally depends on the ratings assigned to the Issuer or its affiliated companies by rating agencies such as Standard & Poor's, Fitch and Moody's. As a result, any downgrading of the Issuer's rating by a rating agency may have a negative impact on the value of the Notes.

Regulatory changes may adversely affect UBS's business and ability to execute its strategic plans

In the wake of the recent financial crisis, regulators and legislators have proposed and adopted, or continue to actively consider, a wide range of measures designed to address the perceived causes of the crisis and to limit the systemic risks posed by major financial institutions. These measures include:

- significantly higher regulatory capital requirements;
- changes in the definition and calculation of regulatory capital, including the capital treatment of certain capital instruments issued by UBS and other banks;

- changes in the calculation of risk-weighted assets;
- new or significantly enhanced liquidity requirements;
- requirements to maintain liquidity and capital in multiple jurisdictions where activities are conducted;
- limitations on principal trading activities;
- limitations on risk concentrations and maximum levels of risk;
- taxes and government levies that would effectively limit balance sheet growth;
- a variety of measures constraining, taxing or imposing additional requirements relating to compensation;
- requirements to adopt structural and other changes designed to reduce systemic risk and to make major financial institutions easier to wind down or disassemble; and
- outright size limitations.

A number of measures have been adopted (or in the case of Basel III, the framework established) and will be implemented in the next several years, or in some cases are subject to legislative action or to further rulemaking by regulatory authorities before final implementation. As a result, there is a high level of uncertainty regarding a number of the measures described above. The timing and implementation of changes could have a material and adverse effect on UBS's business.

Notwithstanding attempts by regulators to coordinate their efforts, the proposals differ by jurisdiction and therefore enhanced regulation may be imposed in a manner that makes it more difficult to manage a global institution. The absence of a coordinated approach is also likely to disadvantage certain banks, such as UBS, as they attempt to compete with less strictly regulated peers based in other jurisdictions.

Swiss authorities have expressed concern about the systemic risks posed by the two largest Swiss banks, particularly in relation to the size of the Swiss economy and governmental resources.

Swiss regulatory change efforts are generally proceeding more quickly than those in other major jurisdictions, and the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority ("FINMA"), the Swiss National Bank ("SNB") and the Swiss Federal Council have proposed requirements that would be more onerous and restrictive for major Swiss banks, such as UBS, than those adopted, proposed or publicly espoused by regulatory authorities in other major global banking centers. Following the July 2010 announcement of the broad agreement reached by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision on total risk-based capital requirements amounting to 10.5%, the Commission of Experts appointed by the Swiss Federal Council issued a report in October 2010 recommending total risk-based capital of 19% for the two big Swiss banks. The measures recommended by the Commission of Experts, which also included requirements designed to reduce interconnectedness in the banking sector and organizational requirements, have now been incorporated into legislative proposals that are scheduled to be considered in 2011 by the Swiss Parliament. The organizational measures included in the draft legislation would require each systemically relevant institution to develop a plan to ensure the continuation of systemically relevant functions within Switzerland, in the event that the institution approaches insolvency. It would empower FINMA to impose more far-reaching structural changes, such as the separation of lines of business into dedicated legal entities and restrictions on intra-group funding and guarantees, should any institution be deemed to have failed to develop an adequate plan. Senior Swiss regulatory officials have made public statements suggesting that broader structural changes of this kind should be adopted or at least seriously considered by the two big Swiss banks in any event.

This may lead to more burdensome regulations applicable to major banks headquartered in Switzerland in comparison with those based elsewhere. The potential regulatory and legislative developments in Switzerland and in other jurisdictions in which UBS has operations may have a material adverse effect on UBS's ability to execute its strategic plans, on the profitability or viability of certain business lines globally or in particular locations, and on its ability to compete with other financial institutions. They could also have an impact on UBS's legal structure or its business model.

UBS's reputation is critical to the success of UBS's business

Damage to UBS's reputation can have fundamental negative effects on its business and prospects. As the events of the past few years have demonstrated, UBS's reputation is critical to the success of its strategic plans. Reputational damage is difficult to reverse. The process is slow and success can be difficult to measure. This was demonstrated in recent years as UBS's very large losses during the financial crisis, the US cross-border matter and other matters seriously damaged its reputation. This was an important factor in UBS's loss of clients and client assets across its asset-gathering businesses, and to a lesser extent in its loss of and difficulty in attracting staff. These developments had short-term and also more lasting adverse effects on UBS's financial performance. UBS recognizes that restoring its reputation would be essential to maintaining its relationships with clients, investors, regulators and the general public, as well as with its employees. Although there is evidence that the steps it has taken in the past couple of years to restore its reputation have been effective, its reputation has not been fully restored, and UBS remains vulnerable to the risk of further reputational damage. Any further reputational damage could have a material adverse effect on its operational results and financial condition and on its ability to achieve its strategic goals and financial targets.

UBS's capital strength is important in supporting its client franchise; changes in capital requirements are likely to constrain certain business activities in the Investment Bank

UBS's capital position, as measured by the BIS tier 1 and total capital ratios, is determined by (i) risk-weighted assets ("RWA") (balance sheet, off-balance sheet and other market and operational risk positions, measured and risk-weighted according to regulatory criteria) and (ii) eligible capital. Both RWA and eligible capital are subject to change. Eligible capital would be reduced if UBS experiences net losses, as determined for the purpose of the regulatory capital calculation. Eligible capital can also be reduced for a number of other reasons, including certain reductions in the ratings of securitization exposures, adverse currency movements directly affecting the value of equity and prudential adjustments that may be required due to the valuation uncertainty associated with certain types of positions. RWA, on the other hand, are driven by UBS's business activities and by changes in the risk profile of its exposures. For instance, substantial market volatility, a widening of credit spreads (the major driver of UBS's value-at-risk), a change in regulatory treatment of certain positions, adverse currency movements, increased counterparty risk or a deterioration in the economic environment could result in a rise in RWA. Any such reduction in eligible capital or increase in RWA could potentially reduce UBS's capital ratios, and such reductions could be material.

The required levels and calculation of UBS's regulatory capital and the calculation of its RWA are also subject to changes in regulatory requirements or the interpretation thereof.

UBS is subject to regulatory capital requirements imposed by FINMA, under which it has higher RWA than would be the case under BIS guidelines. Forthcoming changes in the calculation of RWA under Basel III and FINMA requirements will significantly increase the level of UBS's RWA and therefore have an adverse effect on its capital ratios. UBS has identified steps that it can take to mitigate the effects of the changes in the RWA calculation, but there is a risk that it will not be successful in doing so, either because UBS is unable to carry out fully the actions it has planned or because other business or regulatory developments counteract the benefit of these mitigating steps. UBS has also announced that it intends to build its capital base by retaining earnings and by not paying dividends either in 2010 or for some time to come, but there is a risk that UBS will not have sufficient earnings to increase the level of its capital as quickly as it has planned or as may be necessary to satisfy new capital requirements.

In addition to the risk-based capital requirements, FINMA has introduced a minimum leverage ratio, which must be achieved by 1 January 2013 at the latest. The leverage ratio operates separately from the risk-based capital requirements, and accordingly under certain circumstances could constrain UBS's business activities even if UBS is able to satisfy the risk-based capital requirements.

Changes in the Swiss requirements for risk-based capital or leverage ratios, whether pertaining to the minimum levels required for large Swiss banks or to the calculation thereof (including changes made to implement the recent recommendations of the Swiss Commission of Experts), could have a material adverse effect on UBS's business and ability to execute its strategic plans or pay dividends in the future. This is particularly the case if its plans to take mitigating actions to reduce risk-weighted assets and to satisfy future capital requirements through retained earnings are not successful. Moreover, changes in the calculation and level of capital requirements, coupled in some cases with other regulatory changes, are likely to render uneconomic certain capital-intensive businesses conducted in the Investment Bank, or to make their effective returns so low that they might no longer be viable. If some business activities of the Investment Bank are significantly reduced or discontinued, this could adversely affect UBS's competitive position, particularly if competitors are subject to different requirements under which those activities would remain sustainable.

UBS holds risk positions that may be adversely affected by conditions in the financial markets

UBS, like other financial market participants, was severely affected by the financial crisis that began in 2007. The deterioration of financial markets since the beginning of the crisis was extremely severe by historical standards, and UBS recorded substantial losses on fixed income trading positions, particularly in 2008 and to a lesser extent in 2009. UBS has drastically reduced its risk exposures from 2008 through 2010, in part through transfers in 2008 and 2009 to a fund controlled by the Swiss National Bank. UBS does, however, continue to hold legacy risk positions that are exposed to the general systemic and counterparty risks that were exacerbated by the financial crisis. The continued illiquidity of most of these legacy risk positions makes it increasingly difficult to reduce its legacy risk exposures.

During the financial crisis, UBS incurred large losses (realized and mark to market) on its holdings of securities related to the US residential mortgage market. Although UBS's exposure to that market was reduced dramatically from 2008 through 2010, UBS remains exposed to a smaller degree to such losses, most notably through monoline-insured positions.

The financial crisis also caused market dislocations that affected, and to a degree still affect, other asset classes. In 2008 and 2009, UBS recorded markdowns on other assets carried at fair value, including auction rate securities ("ARS"), leveraged finance commitments, commercial mortgages in the US and non-US mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities ("ABS"). UBS has a very large inventory of ARS which is subject to changes in market values. The portion of UBS's ARS inventory that has been reclassified as loans and receivables is subject to possible impairment due to changes in market interest rates and other factors. UBS holds positions related to real estate in countries other than the US, including a very substantial Swiss mortgage portfolio, and UBS could suffer losses on these positions. In addition, UBS is exposed to risk in its prime brokerage, reverse repo and lombard lending activities, as the value or liquidity of the assets against which UBS provides financing may decline rapidly.

Performance in the financial services industry depends on the economic climate

The financial services industry prospers in conditions of economic growth, stable geopolitical conditions, transparent, liquid and buoyant capital markets and positive investor sentiment. An economic downturn, inflation or a severe financial crisis (as seen in the last few years) can negatively affect UBS's revenues and ultimately its capital base.

A market downturn can be precipitated by a number of factors, including geopolitical events, changes in monetary or fiscal policy, trade imbalances, natural disasters, pandemics, civil unrest, war or terrorism. Because financial markets are global and highly interconnected, even local and regional events can have widespread impacts well beyond the countries in which they occur. A crisis could develop, regionally or globally, as a result of disruptions in emerging markets which are susceptible to macroeconomic and political developments, or as a result of the failure of a major market participant. UBS has material exposures to certain emerging market economies, both as a wealth manager and as an investment bank. As UBS's presence and business in emerging markets increases, and as its strategic plans depend more heavily upon its ability to generate growth and revenue in the emerging markets, UBS becomes more exposed to these risks. The bond market dislocations affecting the sovereign debt of certain European countries, particularly in 2010, demonstrate that such developments even in more developed markets can have similarly unpredictable and destabilizing effects. Adverse developments of these kinds have affected UBS's businesses in a number of ways, and may continue to have further adverse effects on its businesses as follows:

- a general reduction in business activity and market volumes would affect fees, commissions and margins from market making and client-driven transactions and activities;
- a market downturn is likely to reduce the volume and valuations of assets UBS manages on behalf of clients, reducing its asset- and performance-based fees;
- reduced market liquidity limits trading and arbitrage opportunities and impedes UBS's ability to manage risks, impacting both trading income and performance-based fees;
- assets UBS owns and accounts for as investments or trading positions could fall in value;
- impairments and defaults on credit exposures and on trading and investment positions could increase, and losses may be exacerbated by falling collateral values; and
- if individual countries impose restrictions on cross-border payments or other exchange or capital controls, UBS could suffer losses from enforced default by counterparties, be unable to access its own assets, or be impeded in – or prevented from – managing its risks.

Because UBS has very substantial exposures to other major financial institutions, the failure of any such institution could have a material effect on UBS.

The developments mentioned above can materially affect the performance of UBS's business units and of UBS as a whole. There is also a related risk that the carrying value of goodwill of a business unit might suffer impairments and deferred tax assets levels may need to be adjusted.

UBS's global presence subjects it to risk from currency fluctuations

UBS prepares its consolidated financial statements in Swiss francs. However, a substantial portion of its assets, liabilities, invested assets, revenues and expenses are denominated in other currencies, particularly the US dollar, the euro and the British pound. Accordingly, changes in foreign exchange rates, particularly between the Swiss franc and the US dollar (US dollar revenue represents the major part of UBS's non-Swiss franc revenue) have an effect on its reported income and invested asset levels. During 2010, a strengthening of the Swiss franc, especially against the US dollar and euro, had an adverse effect on UBS's revenues and invested assets. Since exchange rates are subject to constant change, sometimes from completely unpredictable reasons, UBS's results are subject to risks associated with changes in the relative values of currencies.

UBS is dependent upon its risk management and control processes to avoid or limit potential losses in its trading and counterparty credit businesses

Controlled risk-taking is a major part of the business of a financial services firm. Credit is an integral part of many of UBS's retail, wealth management and Investment Bank activities. This includes lending, underwriting and derivatives businesses and positions. Changes in interest rates, credit spreads, equity prices, foreign exchange levels and other market fluctuations can adversely affect UBS's earnings. Some losses from risk-taking activities are inevitable, but to be successful over time, UBS must balance the risks it takes against the returns it generates. UBS must therefore diligently identify, assess, manage and control its risks, not only in normal market conditions but also as they might develop under more extreme (stressed) conditions, when concentrations of exposures can lead to severe losses.

As seen during the recent market crisis, UBS is not always able to prevent serious losses arising from extreme or sudden market events that are not anticipated by its risk measures and systems. Value-at-risk, a statistical measure for market risk, is derived from historical market data, and thus by definition could not have predicted the losses seen in the stressed conditions during the financial crisis. Moreover, stress loss and concentration controls and the dimensions in which UBS aggregates risk to identify potentially highly correlated exposures proved to be inadequate. Notwithstanding the steps UBS has taken to strengthen its risk management and control framework, UBS could suffer further losses in the future if, for example:

- UBS does not fully identify the risks in its portfolio, in particular risk concentrations and correlated risks;
- UBS's assessment of the risks identified or its response to negative trends proves to be inadequate or incorrect;
- markets move in ways that UBS does not expect – in terms of their speed, direction, severity or correlation – and UBS's ability to manage risks in the resultant environment is therefore affected;
- third parties to whom UBS has credit exposure or whose securities UBS holds for its own account are severely affected by events not anticipated by its models, and UBS accordingly suffers defaults and impairments beyond the level implied by its risk assessment; or
- collateral or other security provided by UBS's counterparties proves inadequate to cover their obligations at the time of their default.

UBS also manages risk on behalf of its clients in its asset and wealth management businesses. UBS's performance in these activities could be harmed by the same factors. If clients suffer losses or the performance of their assets held with UBS is not in line with relevant benchmarks against which clients assess investment performance, UBS may suffer reduced fee income and a decline in assets under management or withdrawal of mandates.

If UBS decides to support a fund or another investment that UBS sponsors in its asset or wealth management business (such as the property fund to which Wealth Management & Swiss Bank has exposure), UBS might, depending on the facts and circumstances, incur charges that could increase to material levels.

Investment positions, such as equity holdings made as a part of strategic initiatives and seed investments made at the inception of funds that UBS manages, may also be affected by market risk factors.

These investments are often not liquid and are generally intended or required to be held beyond a normal trading horizon. They are subject to a distinct control framework. Deteriorations in the fair value of these positions would have a negative impact on UBS's earnings.

Valuations of certain assets rely on models. For some of the inputs to these models there is no observable source

Where possible, UBS marks its trading book assets at their quoted market price in an active market. Such price information may not be available for certain instruments and UBS therefore applies valuation techniques to measure such instruments. Valuation techniques use "market observable inputs" where available, derived from similar assets in similar and active markets, from recent transaction prices for comparable items or from other observable market data. In the case of positions for which some or all of the reference data are not observable or have limited observability, UBS uses valuation models with non-market observable inputs. There is no single market standard for valuation models of this type. Such models have inherent limitations; different assumptions and inputs would generate different results, and these differences could have a significant impact on UBS's financial results. UBS regularly reviews and updates its valuation models to incorporate all factors that market participants would consider in setting a price, including factoring in current market conditions. Judgment is an important component of this process. Changes in model inputs or in the models themselves, or failure to make the changes necessary to reflect evolving market conditions, could have a material adverse effect on UBS's financial results.

UBS is exposed to possible further reduction in client assets in its wealth management and asset management businesses

In 2008 and 2009, UBS experienced substantial net outflows of client assets in its wealth management and asset management businesses. UBS's wealth management businesses continued to experience net outflows in the first half of 2010, albeit at significantly reduced levels. The net outflows resulted from a number of different factors, including UBS's substantial losses, the damage to its reputation, the loss of client advisors, difficulty in recruiting qualified client advisors and developments concerning its crossborder private banking business. Some of these factors have been successfully addressed, but others, such as the long-term changes affecting the cross-border private banking business model, will continue to affect client flows for an extended period of time. If UBS again experiences material net outflows of client assets, the results of its wealth management and asset management businesses are likely to be adversely affected.

Liquidity and funding management are critical to UBS's ongoing performance

Reductions in UBS's credit ratings can increase its funding costs, in particular with regard to funding from wholesale unsecured sources, and can affect the availability of certain kinds of funding. In addition, as UBS experienced in 2008 and 2009, ratings downgrades can require UBS to post additional collateral or make additional cash payments under master trading agreements relating to its derivatives businesses. UBS's credit ratings also contribute, together with its capital strength and reputation, to maintaining client and counterparty confidence.

A substantial part of UBS's liquidity and funding requirements is met using short-term unsecured funding sources, including wholesale and retail deposits and the regular issuance of money market securities. The volume of these funding sources has generally been stable, but could change in the future due, among other things, to general market disruptions. Any such change could occur quickly.

Due to recent changes in Swiss regulatory requirements, and due to liquidity requirements imposed by certain jurisdictions in which UBS operates, it has been required to maintain substantially higher levels of liquidity overall than had been UBS's usual practice in the past. Like increased capital requirements, higher liquidity requirements make certain lines of business, particularly in the Investment Bank, less attractive and may reduce UBS's overall ability to generate profits.

Operational risks may affect UBS's business

All of UBS's businesses are dependent on its ability to process a large number of complex transactions across multiple and diverse markets in different currencies, and to comply with the requirements of the many different legal and regulatory regimes to which UBS is subject. UBS's operational risk management and control systems and processes are designed to help ensure that the risks associated with its activities, including those arising from process error, failed execution, unauthorized trading, fraud, system failures and failure of security and physical protection, are appropriately controlled. If UBS's internal controls fail or prove ineffective in identifying and remedying such risks, UBS could suffer operational failures that might result in material losses.

Legal claims and regulatory risks and restrictions arise in the conduct of UBS's business

Due to the nature of UBS's business, it is subject to regulatory oversight and liability risk. UBS is involved in a variety of claims, disputes, legal proceedings and government investigations in jurisdictions where UBS is active. These types of proceedings expose UBS to substantial monetary damages and legal defense costs, injunctive relief and criminal and civil penalties, in addition to potential regulatory restrictions on its businesses. The outcome of these matters cannot be predicted and they could adversely affect UBS's future business. UBS continues to be subject to government inquiries and investigations, and is involved in a number of litigations and disputes, many of which arose out of the financial crisis. These matters concern, among other things, UBS's valuations, accounting classifications, disclosures, writedowns and contractual obligations. UBS is also subject to potentially material exposure in connection with claims relating to US residential mortgage-backed securities ("RMBS") and mortgage loan sales, the Madoff investment fraud, Lehman principal protection notes and other matters.

UBS has been in active dialogue with its regulators concerning the remedial actions that UBS is taking to address deficiencies in its risk management and control, funding and certain other processes and systems. UBS continues to be subject to increased scrutiny by FINMA and its other major regulators, and accordingly is subject to regulatory measures that might affect the implementation of its strategic plans.

UBS might be unable to identify or capture revenue or competitive opportunities, or retain and attract qualified employees

The financial services industry is characterized by intense competition, continuous innovation, detailed (and sometimes fragmented) regulation and ongoing consolidation. UBS faces competition at the level of local markets and individual business lines, and from global financial institutions that are comparable to UBS in their size and breadth. Barriers to entry in individual markets are being eroded by new technology. UBS expects these trends to continue and competition to increase in the future.

UBS's competitive strength and market position could be eroded if UBS is unable to identify market trends and developments, does not respond to them by devising and implementing adequate business strategies or is unable to attract or retain the qualified people needed to carry them out. The changes recently introduced in UBS's balance sheet management, funding framework and risk management and control, as well as possible new or enhanced regulatory requirements, may constrain the revenue contribution of certain lines of business. For example, parts of the Investment Bank's fixed income, currencies and commodities business may be affected as they require substantial funding and are capital-intensive.

The amount and structure of UBS's employee compensation are affected not only by its business results but also by competitive factors and regulatory guidance. Constraints on the amount of employee compensation, higher levels of deferral and claw-backs and performance conditions may adversely affect UBS's ability to retain and attract key employees, and may in turn negatively affect its business performance. For the performance years 2009 and 2010, the portion of variable compensation granted in the form of deferred shares was much higher than in the past, and the percentage of compensation deferred was higher than that of many of UBS's competitors. UBS continues to be subject to the risk that key employees will be attracted by competitors and decide to leave UBS, or that UBS may be less successful than its competitors in attracting qualified employees. Although changes in regulatory requirements and pressure from regulators and other stakeholders affect not only UBS but also the other major international banks, the constraints and pressures differ by jurisdiction, and this may give some of its peers a competitive advantage.

UBS is exposed to risks arising from the different regulatory, legal and tax regimes applicable to its global businesses

UBS operates in more than 50 countries, earns income and holds assets and liabilities in many different currencies and is subject to many different legal, tax and regulatory regimes. UBS's ability to execute its global strategy depends on obtaining and maintaining local regulatory approvals. This includes the approval of acquisitions or other transactions and the ability to obtain and maintain the necessary licenses to operate in local markets. Changes in local tax laws or regulations and their enforcement may affect the ability or the willingness of UBS's clients to do business with the bank, or the viability of its strategies and business model.

The effects of taxes on UBS's financial results are significantly influenced by changes in its deferred tax assets and final determinations on audits by tax authorities

The deferred tax assets UBS has recognized on its balance sheet as of 31 December 2010 in respect of prior years' tax losses are based on profitability assumptions over a five-year horizon. If the business plan earnings and assumptions in future periods substantially deviate from the current outlook, the amount of deferred tax assets may need to be adjusted in the future. This could include write-offs of deferred tax assets through the income statement if actual results come in substantially below the business plan forecasts and / or if future business plan forecasts are substantially revised downwards.

In the coming years, UBS's effective tax rate will be highly sensitive both to its performance and to the development of new business plan forecasts. Currently unrecognized deferred tax assets in the UK and especially the US could be recognized if UBS's actual and forecasted performance in those countries is strong enough to justify further recognition of deferred tax assets under the governing accounting standard. UBS's results in recent periods have demonstrated that changes in the recognition of deferred tax assets can have a very significant effect on its reported results. If, for example, the Group's performance in the UK and especially in the US is strong, UBS could be expected to write up additional US and / or UK deferred tax assets in the coming years. The effect of doing so would reduce the Group's effective tax rate, possibly to zero or below.

Conversely, if UBS's performance in those countries does not justify additional deferred tax recognition, but nevertheless supports its maintaining current deferred tax levels, UBS expects the Group's effective tax rate to be in the range of 20% or slightly higher.

Additionally, the final effect of income taxes UBS accrues in the accounts is often only determined after the completion of tax audits (which generally takes a number of years) or the expiry of statutes of limitations. In addition, changes to, and judicial interpretation of, tax laws or policies and practices of tax authorities could cause the amount of taxes ultimately paid by UBS to materially differ from the amount accrued.

Potential conflicts of interest

The Issuer and affiliated companies may participate in transactions related to the Certificates in some way, for their own account or for account of a client. Such transactions may not serve to benefit the Certificateholders and may have a positive or negative effect on the value of the Underlying or the creditworthiness of the Reference Entity or any other relevant underlying and consequently on the value of the Certificates. Furthermore, companies affiliated with the Issuer may become counterparties in hedging transactions relating to obligations of the Issuer stemming from the Certificates. As a result, conflicts of interest can arise between companies affiliated with the Issuer, as well as between these companies and investors, in relation to obligations regarding the calculation of the price of the Certificates and other associated determinations. In addition, the Issuer and its affiliates may act in other capacities with regard to the Certificates, such as calculation agent, paying agent and administrative agent and/or index sponsor.

Furthermore, the Issuer and its affiliates may issue other derivative instruments relating to the relevant Underlying(s) or the reference obligation and/or the Reference Entity or any other relevant underlying; introduction of such competing products may affect the value of the Securities. The Issuer and its affiliated companies may receive non-public information relating to the Underlyings, the reference obligation and/or the Reference Entity or any other relevant underlying, and neither the Issuer nor any of its affiliates undertakes to make this information available to Certificateholders. In addition, one or more of the Issuer's affiliated companies may publish research reports on the Underlying(s) or the Reference Entity or any other relevant underlying. Such activities could present conflicts of interest and may affect the value of the Certificates.

Within the context of the offering and sale of the Certificates, the Issuer or any of its affiliates may directly or indirectly pay fees in varying amounts to third parties, such as distributors or investment advisors, or receive payment of fees in varying amounts, including those levied in association with the distribution of the Certificates, from third parties. Potential investors should be aware that the Issuer may retain fees in part or in full. The Issuer or, as the case may be, the Manager(s), upon request, will provide information on the amount of these fees.

INFORMATION REGARDING TAXATION IN ITALY / INFORMATIONEN ZUR BESTEUERUNG IN ITALIEN

The following is a general summary of current Italian law and practice relating to certain Italian tax considerations concerning the purchase, ownership and disposal of the Securities by Italian resident holders. It does not purport to be a complete analysis of all tax considerations that may be relevant to a decision to purchase, own or dispose of the Securities and does not purport to deal with the tax consequences applicable to all categories of prospective beneficial owners of Securities, some of which may be subject to special rules. This summary is based upon Italian tax laws and practice in effect as at the date of this document, which may be subject to change, potentially with retroactive effect.

Prospective Securityholders should consult their own tax advisers as to the consequences under Italian tax law, under the tax laws of the country in which they are resident for tax purposes and of any other potentially relevant jurisdiction of acquiring, holding and disposing of Securities.

1. Tax treatment of the Securities

The Securities may be subject to different tax regimes depending on whether:

- they represent a debt instrument qualify as bonds ("obbligazioni") or debentures similar to bonds ("titoli similari alle obbligazioni"), since they include an unconditional obligation to pay, at maturity, an amount not lower than their nominal value;
- they represent derivative financial instruments or bundles of derivative financial instruments, through which the Securityholders purchase indirectly underlying financial instruments; or
- they represent "atypical securities" not granting a full capital protection.

1.1 Securities representing bonds or debentures similar to bonds

Interest, premiums and other income (including the difference between the redemption amount and the issue price) arising from Securities that qualify as bonds ("obbligazioni") or debentures similar to bonds ("titoli similari alle obbligazioni"), since they include an unconditional obligation to pay, at maturity, an amount not lower than their nominal value, pursuant to Art. 44 of the Italian Income Tax Code, as amended and supplemented ("TUIR"), is considered as income deriving from the investment of capital (Redditi di capitale). Pursuant to article 44 of the TUIR, for Securities to qualify as titoli similari alle obbligazioni (debentures similar to bonds) they must incorporate an unconditional obligation to pay at maturity an amount not less than that therein indicated and they should not grant administrative rights in respect of the Issuer. Article 2 of Legislative Decree No. 239 of 1 April, 1996, as subsequently amended and supplemented, ("Decree 239") regulates the tax treatment of interest, premiums and other income arising from such Securities - issued, inter alia, by non-Italian resident issuers - as follows:

Italian resident Securityholders

Pursuant to Decree 239, where the Securities are owned by an Italian resident Securityholder which is:

- (i) an individual holding the Securities otherwise than in connection with entrepreneurial activity (unless he has entrusted the management of his financial assets, including the Securities, to an authorised intermediary and has opted for the application of the "risparmio gestito" regime according to Article 7 of Legislative Decree n. 461, as of 21 November, 1997, as amended ("Decree 461") – (see under "Capital gains tax", below); or
- (ii) a non-commercial partnership or professional association, (società ed associazioni) pursuant to Art. 5 of the TUIR, (other than limited partnerships (società in accomandita semplice), general partnerships (società in nome collettivo) and partnerships treated as such), de facto partnership not carrying out commercial activity; or

(iii) a non-commercial private or public institution (enti non commerciali) pursuant to Articles 87 and 88 of the TUIR; or

(iv) an investor exempt from Italian corporate income taxation,

then interest, premium and other income relating to the Securities, accrued during the relevant holding period, are subject to a substitute tax withheld at source, referred to as "imposta sostitutiva", levied at the rate of 20 per cent.

If the Securityholders described under (i) and (iii) above are engaged in an entrepreneurial activity to which the Securities are connected, the imposta sostitutiva applies as a provisional income tax and may be deducted from the taxation on income due.

Under the current regime provided by Law Decree No. 351 of 25 September, 2001 converted into law with amendments by Law No. 410 of 23 November, 2001, payments of interest premium or other proceeds in respect of the Securities made to Italian resident real estate investment funds established pursuant to Article 37 of Legislative Decree No. 58 of 24 February, 1998, as amended and supplemented, and article 14-bis of Law No. 86 of 25 January, 1994 are subject neither to substitute tax nor to any other income tax in the hands of a real estate investment fund.

Where an Italian resident Securityholders is (i) a company or similar commercial entity or a permanent establishment in Italy of a foreign corporation to which the Securities are effectively connected and (ii) the Securities are deposited with an authorised intermediary, interest, premium and other income from the Securities will not be subject to imposta sostitutiva, but must be included in the relevant Securityholder's income tax return and are therefore subject to general Italian corporate taxation.

If the investor is resident in Italy and is an open-ended or closed-ended investment fund (the "Fund") or a SICAV, and the Securities are held by an authorised intermediary, interest, premium and other income accrued during the holding period on the Securities will not be subject to imposta sostitutiva. Indeed, from 1 July 2011, any income earned by Italian resident collective investment funds is taxed on the investors who subscribe the quotas of the funds, once the fund result is distributed (or the fund is closed or the units are redeemed).

Where an Italian resident Securityholder is a pension fund (subject to the regime provided for by articles 14, 14-bis, 14-ter and 14-quater, paragraph 1 of Legislative Decree No. 124 of 21 April, 1993) and the Securities are deposited with an authorised intermediary, interest, premium and other income relating to the Securities and accrued during the holding period will not be subject to imposta sostitutiva, but must be included in the result of the relevant portfolio accrued at the end of the tax period, to be subject to an 11 per cent substitute tax.

Pursuant to Decree 239, the imposta sostitutiva is applied by banks, società di intermediazione mobiliale (so called SIMs), fiduciary companies, società di gestione del risparmio (SGRs), stockbrokers and other qualified entities identified by a decree of the Ministry of Economy and Finance (each an Intermediary).

An Intermediary must (i) be resident in Italy or be a permanent establishment in Italy of a non-Italian resident financial intermediary; and (ii) intervene, in any way, in the collection of interest or in the transfer of the Securities.

For the purpose of the application of the imposta sostitutiva, a transfer of Securities includes any assignment or other act, either with or without consideration, which results in a change of the ownership of the relevant Securities or in a change of the Intermediary with which the Securities are deposited.

Where the Securities are not deposited with an Intermediary, the imposta sostitutiva is applied and withheld by any Italian bank or any Italian Intermediary paying interest to the Securityholders, or by the Issuer and the Securityholder is entitled to deduct the imposta sostitutiva suffered from income taxes due.

Non-Italian resident Securityholders

No Italian imposta sostitutiva is applied on payments to a non-Italian resident Securityholder of interest or premium relating to the Securities provided that, if the Securities are held in Italy, the non-Italian resident Securityholder declares itself to be a non-Italian resident according to Italian tax regulations and duly deposits the Securities with an Italian Intermediary.

1.2 Securities representing derivative financial instruments or bundles of derivative financial Instruments

Pursuant to Decree N° 461 of 21 November 1997, payments in respect of Securities qualifying as securitized derivative financial instruments received by Italian Securityholders as well as capital gains realized by Italian Securityholders (not engaged in entrepreneurial activities to which the Securities are connected) which are Italian resident individuals on any sale or transfer for consideration of the Securities or redemption thereof are subject to a 20 per cent. capital gains tax, which applies under the following taxation regime "Regime della dichiarazione", "Regime del risparmio amministrato" and "Regime del risparmio gestito" as described under paragraph "Capital Gains Tax" below.

Capital Gains Tax

A 20 per cent. substitute tax (imposta sostitutiva) is applicable on capital gains realized on the disposal of the Securities by Securityholders included among the following categories of Italian resident persons: (i) individuals not engaged in an entrepreneurial activity to which the securities are effectively connected, (ii) non commercial partnerships or de facto partnerships, (iii) private or public institutions not carrying out mainly or exclusively commercial activities, or (iv) investors exempt from Italian corporate taxation ("IRES").

In respect of the application of imposta sostitutiva, taxpayers may opt for one of the three regimes described below:

- (a) Under the Regime della dichiarazione, which is the default regime for Italian resident individuals not engaged in an entrepreneurial activity to which the Securities are effectively connected, the imposta sostitutiva on capital gains will be chargeable, on a cumulative basis, on all capital gains, net of any offsettable capital losses, realized by the Italian resident individual holding the Securities. In this instance, "capital gains" means any capital gain not connected with an entrepreneurial activity pursuant to all sales or redemptions of the Securities carried out during any given fiscal year. Italian resident individuals holding the Securities not in connection with an entrepreneurial activity must report the overall amount of the capital gains realized in any fiscal year, net of any offsettable capital losses, in the annual tax return and pay the imposta sostitutiva on those gains together with any balance income tax due for such year. Capital losses in excess of capital gains may be carried forward against capital gains realized in any of the four succeeding fiscal years. Carried forward capital losses in excess of capital gains realized prior to 1 January 2012 may be used against capital gains realised in any of the four succeeding tax years limitedly to 62,5% of their amount.
- (b) As an alternative to the tax declaration regime, Italian resident individual holding the Securities not in connection with an entrepreneurial activity may elect to pay the imposta sostitutiva separately on any capital gain realized on each sale or redemption of the Securities (Regime del risparmio amministrato). Such separate taxation of capital gains is allowed subject to:
 - (i) the Securities being deposited with Italian banks, SIMs or certain authorised financial intermediaries; and
 - (ii) an express election for Regime del risparmio amministrato being timely made in writing by the relevant Securityholder.

The depositary must account for the imposta sostitutiva in respect of any capital gain realized on each sale or redemption of the Securities (as well as in respect of any capital gain realized upon the revocation of its mandate), net of any incurred capital loss. The depositary must also pay the relevant amount to the Italian tax authorities on behalf of the taxpayer, deducting a corresponding amount from the proceeds to be credited to the Securityholder or using funds provided by the Securityholder for this purpose. Under the Regime del risparmio amministrato, where a sale or redemption of the Securities results in a capital loss, which may be deducted from any capital gain subsequently realised, within the same Securities management, in the same fiscal year or in the following fiscal years up to the fourth. Capital losses realized prior to 1 January 2012 may be carried forward against capital gains realized after such date within the same Securities management, according to the same conditions above described, limitedly to 62,5% of their amount. Under the Regime del risparmio amministrato, the Securityholder is not required to declare the capital gains in the annual tax return.

(c) In the Regime del risparmio gestito, any capital gain realized by Italian resident individuals holding the Securities not in connection with an entrepreneurial activity who have entrusted the management of their financial assets, including the Securities, to an authorised intermediary, will be included in the computation of the annual increase in value of the managed assets accrued, even if not realized, at year end, subject to a 20 per cent. imposta sostitutiva, to be paid by the managing authorised intermediary. Any depreciation of the managed assets accrued at year end may be carried forward against increase in value of the managed assets accrued in any of the four succeeding fiscal years. Any decrease in value of the managed assets accrued until 31 December 2011 may be carried forward against increase in value of the managed assets accrued after such date limitedly to 62,5% of their amount. The Securityholder is not required to report the capital gains realized in the annual tax return.

Any capital gain deriving from the sale or redemption of the Securities and realized by Italian resident companies (including Italian permanent establishments of foreign entities to which the Securities are connected), similar commercial entity, commercial partnership or Italian resident individuals engaged in an entrepreneurial activity to which the Securities are effectively connected would not be subject to imposta sostitutiva, but must be included in the relevant Securityholder's income tax return and therefore subject to IRES (and, in certain circumstances, depending on the "status" of the Securityholder, also as part of the net value of the production for regional tax on business activities purposes ("IRAP")).

Capital gains realized on Securities held by Italian investment funds, Fondi Lussemburghesi Storici and SICAV will not be subject to any substitute tax, but will be included in the result of the relevant portfolio. Said result will not be subject to tax with the investment funds or the SICAV, but any distribution or any other income received upon redemption or disposal of the units or of the shares by the unitholders or shareholders may be subject to a withholding tax of 20 per cent..

Capital gains realized on Securities held by real estate funds to which the provisions of Law Decree N° 351 of 25 September 2001, as subsequently amended, apply, will neither be subject to any substitute tax nor to any other income tax with the fund. Generally any distribution or any other income received upon redemption or disposal of the units by the unitholders may be subject to a withholding tax of 20 per cent.

Capital gains on the Securities held by an Italian resident pension fund (subject to the regime provided for by Article 17 of the Italian Legislative Decree N° 252 of 5 December 2005) will not be subject to the 20 per cent. imposta sostitutiva, but will be included in the result of the relevant portfolio accrued at the end of the tax period, to be subject to an 11 per cent. substitute tax.

Capital gains realized by non-Italian resident Securityholders are not subject to Italian taxation provided that the Securityholder is resident in a white list country guaranteeing the exchange of information right with Italian tax authorities and fulfills certain formal requirements or Securities are held outside Italy or the capital gain is derived from transaction executed in regulated market.

1.3 Securities representing "Atypical securities"

In accordance with a different interpretation of the current legislation it is possible to consider the Securities - not falling within the categories of bonds (obbligazioni) or of securities similar to bonds (titoli similari alle obbligazioni) since they do not include an unconditional obligation to pay, at maturity, an amount not lower than their nominal value or to derivative financial instruments - as "Atypical securities" pursuant to Article 8 of Law Decree N° 512 of 30 September 1983. In this event any payment relating to the Securities may be subject to a withholding tax, levied at the rate of 20 per cent..

The 20 per cent. withholding tax is levied by any Italian resident entity which intervenes in the collection of payments on the Securities or in their repurchase or transfers. In case the payments on the Securities are not received through any aforementioned Italian resident entity, Italian resident individual Securityholders are required to report the payments in their income tax return and subject them to a final withholding tax at 20 per cent. rate. Italian resident individual Securityholders may elect instead to pay ordinary income tax at the progressive rates applicable to them in respect of the payments; if so, the Italian resident individual Securityholders should generally benefit from a tax credit for any withholding tax possible applied outside Italy.

The 20 per cent. withholding tax does not apply to payments made to a non-Italian resident Securityholder and to an Italian resident Securityholder which is (i) a company (including Italian permanent establishments of foreign entities) or similar commercial entity, (ii) a commercial partnerships or (iii) a private or public institution carrying out commercial activities.

2. Inheritance and gift taxes

Pursuant to Law Decree No. 262 of 3 October 2006, ("Decree No. 262"), converted into Law No. 286 of 24 November 2006, the transfers of any valuable asset (including shares, bonds or other securities) as a result of death or donation are taxed as follows:

- a) transfers in favour of spouses and direct descendants or direct ancestors are subject to an inheritance and gift tax applied at a rate of 4 per cent. on the value of the inheritance or gift exceeding EUR 1,000,000;
- b) transfers in favour of relatives to the fourth degree or relatives-in-law to the third degree are subject to an inheritance and gift tax at a rate of 6 per cent. on the entire value of the inheritance or the gift. Transfers in favour of brothers/sisters are subject to the 6 per cent. inheritance and gift tax on the value of the inheritance or gift exceeding EUR 100,000; and
- c) any other transfer is subject to an inheritance and gift tax applied at a rate of 8 per cent. on the entire value of the inheritance or gift.

If the transfer is made in favour of persons with severe disabilities, the tax applies on the value exceeding EUR 1,500,000.

An anti-avoidance rule is provided by Law N° 383 of 18 October 2001 for any gift of assets (such as the Securities) which, if sold for consideration, would give rise to capital gains subject to the imposta sostitutiva provided for by Decree N° 461 of 21 November 1997. In particular, if the donee sells the securities for consideration within five years from the receipt thereof as a gift, the donee is required to pay the relevant imposta sostitutiva on capital gains as if the gift has never taken place.

3. Transfer tax

Contracts relating to the transfer of Securities are subject to a Euro 168 registration tax as follows: (i) public deeds and notarized deeds are subject to mandatory registration; (ii) private deeds are subject to registration only in the case of voluntary registration.

4. Tax Monitoring Obligations

Italian resident individuals, non commercial entities and non commercial partnerships and similar institutions are required to report in their yearly income tax return, according to Law Decree N° 167 of 28th June, 1990 converted into law by Law Decree N° 227 of 4th August, 1990, for tax monitoring purposes:

- (a) the amount of Securities and other financial instruments held at the end of each tax year, if exceeding in the aggregate EUR 10,000.00; and
- (b) the amount of any transfers from abroad, towards abroad and occurring abroad, related to the Securities, occurring during each fiscal year, if these transfers exceed in the aggregate EUR 10,000.00. This also applies in the case that at the end of the fiscal year, Securities are no longer held by those persons.

Furthermore, the above reporting requirements is not required to comply with respect to Securities deposited for management with qualified Italian financial intermediaries and with respect to contracts entered into through their intervention, upon condition that the items of income derived from the Securities are received through the intervention of the same intermediaries.

5. EU Directive on the Taxation of Savings Income

5.1 EU Savings Directive

Under EC Council Directive 2003/48/EC on the taxation of savings income ("EU Savings Directive"), each Member State is required, to provide to the tax authorities of another EU Member State details of payments of interest or other similar income paid by a person within its jurisdiction to, or collected by such a person for, an individual resident in that other EU Member State. However, for a transitional period, Austria, Belgium and Luxembourg may instead apply a withholding system in relation to such payments, deducting tax at rates rising over time to 35 per cent.. The transitional period is to terminate at the end of the first full fiscal year following an agreement by certain non-EU countries to exchange information relating to such payments. With regard to Belgium, the transitional period ended on 31 December 2010 since Belgium opted to apply the exchange of information mechanism.

Also, a number of non-EU countries including Switzerland, and certain dependent or associated territories of certain Member States of the European Union, have adopted similar measures (either the provision of information or transitional withholding) in relation to payments made by a person within its jurisdiction to, or collected by such a person for, an individual resident in an EU Member State. In addition, the Member States of the European Union have entered into reciprocal provision of information or transitional withholding arrangements with certain of those dependent or associated territories in relation to payments made by a person in an EU Member State to, or collected by such a person for, an individual resident in one of those territories.

5.2 Implementation in Italy of the EU Savings Directive

Italy has implemented the EU Savings Directive through Legislative Decree No. 84 of 18 April 2005 (Decree No. 84). Under Decree No. 84, subject to a number of important conditions being met, in the case of interest paid starting from 1 July 2005 to individuals which qualify as beneficial owners of the interest payment and are resident for tax purposes in another Member State, Italian paying agents (i.e., banks, SIMs, fiduciary companies, SGRs resident for tax purposes in Italy, Italian permanent establishments of non-Italian resident persons and any other Italian entity paying interest for professional or business reasons) shall not apply the withholding tax and shall report to the Italian Tax Authorities details of the relevant payments and personal information on the individual beneficial owner. Such information is transmitted by the Italian Tax Authorities to the competent foreign tax authorities of the State of residence of the beneficial owner.

Investors are also advised to consult their own tax advisor with regard to their personal tax implications resulting from such an investment.
